FACTS ABOUT NEBRASKA.

The competition for the normal school location is responsible for the compilation of some interesting facts and figures about Nebraska—information no less interesting because embodied in the arguments advanced in behalf of one of the competing cities.

We have heard a great deal of north Platte and south Platte in Nebraska politics and of the river counties and the semi-arid region, but there is much misapprehension as to what these terms really signify.

According to the last census Nebraska has a population of 1,338,529. Of this number 493,880 are south of the Platte river while 574,650 are north of it, the excess of population north of the river being 80,770. Notwithstanding this distribution of population, the state at the present time has, exclusive of the capitol, fifteen state institutions supported by public revenues, of which eleven are south of the Platte river and only four north. For the state institutions south of the Platte the last legislature appropriated $7,707,995, while for those north of the river it appropriated $473,920, although the assessed value of property taxed to supply the state revenues north of the Platte river is over ten millions more than that south.

The center of Nebraska's population at the present time is computed to be between Osceola, in Polk county, and David City, in Butler county, so that one half of the population lies on each side of a line drawn north to south between these two counties. The geographical center of the state, however, falls within the limits of Custer county, but calculating the population on each side of a line drawn north and south through the geographical center, only about 170,000 people are found west of it and about 998,000 east. The character of the soil in the western part of the state is such that the population center is hardly likely at any time to approach much closer to the geographical center than it does now.

In fixing the location of a normal school designed to accommodate the largest number of people and to be most readily accessible not only for the present, but for the future as well, the state board will have to take into consideration all these pertinent facts. The marvelous changes in Nebraska since its admission to the union are apt to be matched by the changes of the next quarter century, but the development will be along definite lines that can already be discerned.—Omaha Bee.

THE ATHLETE'S HEART.

In the Rowing Man It is Strong and Well Developed.

A prominent member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania Medical school has made a study of the heart action of athletes. He has examined a large number of men in athletics, especially rowing men, and he has come to the conclusion that no man in perfect health who has been properly trained is injured by rowing, but that, on the contrary, his heart is so strengthened that, with a moderate amount of exercise after he has finished his rowing career, there is no reason, so far as the heart and lungs are concerned, that he should not live to a very old age.

"The heart," said he, "is both a very delicate and a very strong organ—that is, if it is well developed it will stand an enormous amount of strain without any permanent injury, but if it is not well developed it is very easily weakened. Violent exercise, like rowing, places a great deal of strain on the heart because when the body is being exerted it requires so much more pressure to force the blood through the body. Like any other muscle that is worked, the heart under the added labor becomes larger, and most athletes have extra large hearts, just as they also have larger muscles throughout the body.

"If the strain is put upon the heart suddenly it dilates—it becomes larger, but not more muscular—and that is the danger in athletics. If a man exercises gradually then his heart also increases in size gradually because the muscles become larger, and this is a perfectly normal condition. It simply means that the athlete has a stronger heart than the average and can cope with the extra strain that is put upon it. A man needs a larger heart to row a race, and if gradual exercise has so provided him with one then he can safely undergo the most severe tests.

"It is the same way with the lungs, and they must be developed gradually until they can undertake the extra work. A man with his heart and lungs well developed is in no danger, no matter how hard the race. He may completely keel over at the end of the race, but it will likely be from sheer exhaustion, and his heart is so strong that the effect is not at all injurious. He will be as good as ever in a few moments."

—Philadelphia Record. The Peptide of a Bright Child. At times it cannot be denied the questions of children become irksome, but who would wish a child to ask no questions? Julius Sturm tells in one of his pretty fairy tales how a grandfather, driven into impatience by the constant questionings of his grandchild, exclaimed, "I wish your tongue were out of joint!" But when unexpectedly his wish was fulfilled and the child became dumb how he joyfully exchanged one of the two years which an angel had prophesied he was yet to live for the privilege of hearing the little one's prattle again!

HAVOC WROUGHT BY HAIL.

Much Loss is Occasioned by Storm in Colorado.

TOWN OF LAFAYETTE FLOODED.

Huge Chunks of Ice Slay Stock, Wreck Buildings and Destroy Crops in Neighborhood of Greeley—Railroad Traffic Blocked.

Denver, Aug. 7.—Details of the storm, which prevailed along the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains in Colorado and northern Wyoming, show it to have been much more severe than at first reported. In some sections the hail fell was unprecedented. In the neighborhood of Greeley and Eaton, in the northern part of Colorado, chunks of ice measuring in some instances ten inches in length, fell, and the damage wrought was immense. Sheep were struck dead in the corral and cattle and horses were severely injured. Farm houses and barns were wrecked and crops utterly wiped out of existence. Near Greeley a man named Johnson was severely injured and rendered unconscious by the hail. Near Lafayette, Colo., there were two storms, the second following the first within fifteen minutes, and with greater severity. The streets of the town were flooded, eucalyptus partially killed with water, and trees and shrubbery stripped of foliage. Many windows were broken. The crops in the country surrounding were destroyed. Hail lay on the ground in many places to a depth of two feet. The damage in and around Lafayette is estimated at $200,000. In southern Colorado the rainfall was very heavy, approaching the proportions of a cloudburst in several places. Railroad traffic was stopped on the Rio Grande for some time by wash-outs. The Santa Fe was also seriously affected.

Why Pay as Much for an inferior beer? Schlitz beer costs twice what common beer costs in the brewing. One-half pays for the product; the other half for its purity. One-half is spent in cleaning, in filtering even the air that touches it, in filtering the beer, in sterilizing every bottle. And it pays the cost of aging the beer for months before we deliver it. If you ask for Schlitz you get purity and age, you pay no more than beer costs without them.

ALWAYS TIRED NEVER RESTED

To be tired out from hard work or bodily exercise is natural and rest is the remedy, but there is an exhaustion without physical exertion and a tired, never-rested feeling—a weariness without work that is unnatural and shows some serious disorder is threatening the health. One of the chief causes of this "Always-tired, never-rested condition" is impure blood and bad circulation. Unless the body is nourished with rich, pure blood there is lack of nervous force, the muscles become weak, the digestion impaired, and general disorder occurs throughout the system.

For over four years I suffered with general debility, causing a thorough breaking down of my system. My cousin, who had been benefited by S. S. S., told me about it. I tried it and it cured me. I heartily recommend S. S. S. to all who may feel the need of a thoroughly good blood tonic. Yours truly, MRS. JOSIE A. BIRTAIN. 44 W. Ninth St., Columbia, Tenn.
